Based on the Network Analysis and Visualization (NAV) process model, the course articulates the analysis, interpretation and visualization of big data collected from online networks in social media. Drawn from the foundation of CMHT 6500, this course aims to (1) Synthesize network analysis and graph theory in the broader fields of digital retailing theories; (2) Advance methods for collecting, analyzing, visualizing and interpreting big data; (3) Discover network patterns and consumer trends in social media based on the cluster and semantic analysis; and (4) Develop social media strategies for digital retailing.

Prerequisites: CMHT 6500 or consent of instructor

College of Visual Arts and Design
The Department of Art Education and Art History
Items IV-8 to IV-13 Approved

IV-8  AEAH 5710 Foundations for Urban Art Education Studies – 3 hours
Requested for the 2016-17 catalog

This course introduces students to the various historical, ideological, and conceptual tensions of urban in art and education. It offers the opportunity to analyze and reflect on the nature of the urban (and extra-urban) experience. Discussions consider the contradictions of the city, such as connections and differences, transience and permanence, public and private, work and enjoyment, and inclusion and isolation. The readings are not exhaustive. Rather the course offers a broad examination of historical and contemporary discourses that inform and orient urban art education. It is concerned with enduring ideas of space, civicness, geographical sensibilities, encounters, difference, displacement, conflict, freedom, and collective empowerment, particularly as they materialize within real-world art education landscapes.

Prerequisites: Admission to M.A. in Art Education with a concentration in Urban Art Education, or consent of instructor.

IV- 9 AEAH 5712 Communities, Schools, and Museums – 3 hours
Requested for the 2016-17 catalog

This course is an introduction to community, school and museum partnerships and pedagogies. It includes site visits to city museums and guest lectures from museum professionals, school teachers, and community groups engaged in building relationships and empowering learners across institutions.

Prerequisites: Admission to M.A. in Art Education with a concentration in Urban Art Education, or consent of instructor.

IV- 10 AEAH 5714 Aesthetic Inquiry with Urban Youth and Communities – 3 hours
Requested for the 2016-17 catalog

This class explores multiple ways of dialoguing and inquiring into art that can be adapted to educational sites including city museums, urban school art classrooms, and community arts programs. The goal is to expand how children and youth understand what art is, how it functions in a sociocultural context, how we value art, and finally, how art affects the body and the senses. Through these modes of inquiry and dialogue, students learn how to reflect on their experiences of art, articulate these experiences to others, and develop heightened sensitivity toward and appreciation of the power of the arts.

Prerequisites: Admission to M.A. in Art Education with a concentration in Urban Art Education, or consent of instructor.

IV-11 AEAH 5716 Seminar in Urban Art Education Studies – 3 hours
Requested for the 2016-17 catalog

This course introduces students to special topics relevant to urban art education theory, practice and research.
